*Lord, God, all creation is yours, and you call us to serve you by caring for the gifts that surround us. May the example of St. Isidore urge us to share our food with the hungry and to work for the salvation of mankind. We ask this through our Lord, Jesus Christ, your son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God for ever and ever. Amen.

Padre Pio's Spiritual Direction

“Joy is the offspring of charity. But to be perfect and genuine, joy requires peace as its inseparable companion. Peace is produced in us when the good that we have is in fact the highest good and is assured to us. Now, isn't God the highest good that the soul loves, and in loving Him, doesn't the soul possess Him?”

In addition to being the highest good, the good that we possess needs to be securely ours. Now, the divine Master assures us, “No one will take your joy from you” (John 16:22). What more solid testimony can there be than that? Realizing all this, the soul cannot help but feel completely content. This is what makes a person able to face the most bitter contradictions of life with a cheerful heart.”

7 Steps to Accepting Suffering

ENTER

Enter into God's presence. Come before Him and beg Him for the grace to understand your suffering and to lean into it—for the sake of your salvation and those whom the Lord has placed under your care.

REFLECT

Reflect painfully on which life events or circumstances have been causing you pain, whether emotional, physical or spiritual. Identify how long you have been carrying this cross.

NAME

Name the suffering you have been experiencing. Is it disappointment? Failure? Grief? Loneliness? Anxiety? Illness? Desperation? Depression? You may name one or perhaps a litany of sufferings. It is often helpful to write these down and get them out of your head onto a piece of paper.

ACKNOWLEDGE

Acknowledge these sufferings before God. Pray something like this from your heart: "Lord, I know you are present to me. These are the sufferings that I have experienced over the last (year/month/day/week/etc.). I know you have not left me alone in all of this."

ACCEPT

Accept these sufferings. This must be done by one's self alone, in the spirit of prayer and resignation. What is better, although harder, is to embrace one's sufferings. Pray, "in Jesus' name I accept (embrace) these sufferings" and name them once again.

OFFER UP

Offer up to God each of the specific sufferings that you have just reflected on, named, and accepted. This is the key. A person cannot offer up what they have not accepted. You cannot give up what you don't own, and acceptance indicates possession and ownership. Once you can pray, "Lord, I offer you all these sufferings (which can be named again) which I have just accepted," your sufferings have now become sacrifices. You might say, "Lord, these are my sacrifices given to you. I offer them for (people or situations you desire to offer your sufferings for). I join them with the sufferings of Christ for my salvation, and those whom I love."

RECOGNIZE

Recognize that although you are really only offering God a mite, God Himself will multiply and magnify your humble gift. He will pour it out upon the needs closest to your heart and upon the entire world in the abundance of His grace. In this mysterious and marvelous way, you participate in the Lord's redemption of His people and the restoration of all things under Jesus Christ.

A LASTING PEACE

This powerful process can be done at any time. However, know that when you offer your sacrifices and sufferings during the Offertory at Mass—which is what we should be doing at that point in every Mass—there is a powerful opportunity to be a catalyst for an outpouring of grace. This has an immediate effect on a soul who worthily receives the Eucharist after offering up their personally accepted sufferings.

Having taken these steps, you can be absolutely certain that while the suffering may remain, you are no longer alone and that God is with you in your struggles. God responds by granting the grace of the peace of Christ. Now we must receive and guard this peace as Jesus said, "My peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you, not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." (Jn 14:27)

Recall that Jesus taught, "Come to me, all you who are weary and find life burdensome, and I will refresh you. Take my yoke upon your shoulders and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble of heart. Your souls will find rest, for my yoke is easy and my burden light." (Mat 11:28-30) This is because Jesus is now yoked with you to help carry the load of your suffering.

You may find that you are unable to make an act of acceptance on your own. In this case, you can ask God for help when you pray, "Lord, help me to accept these sufferings which I desire to offer up to you." God, who is generous and knows your limitations, will always assist you.
